

We have developed an augmented reality pool game to not just simulate, but enhance the pool experience. Using a controller phone, a viewing phone connected to Google Cardboard and some image printouts used as image targets, users can play a game of pool as well as practice their shots by arranging the pool balls as the user pleases.

You have our permission to use our names and media online.